Man Hospitalized After Crash Near Downtown Phoenix

(April 17, 2025) Detectives with the Vehicle Crimes Bureau are investigating a serious collision involving a man who was hit by a passing truck on Wednesday evening.

At about 5:40 p.m., officers were called to a crash in the area of 600 North 7th Avenue where a man was hit by a truck as he walked across a fully marked crosswalk. Officers got to the area and found the victim identified as an adult male suffering from serious injuries. The man was taken to nearby hospital by Phoenix Fire and was treated for life threatening injuries.

Detectives responded to the scene and learned the victim was walking across 7th Avenue in a marked and activated HAWK crosswalk when he was hit by a truck driven by an adult male. The driver of the truck stayed on scene and showed no signs of intoxication while speaking with investigators. Criminal charging will not be determined until all information is learned, and the investigation has been completed.
